

ComCorp, Inc. Strikes Strategic Partnership with SEOENG LLC

ComCorp.com, a full-service Internet marketing agency, has teamed up with the world's first and only Search Engine Optimization Engine, SEOENG(TM). This strategic partnership affords ComCorp the opportunity to extend free SEO analysis to its clients.

Atlanta, GA (PRWeb) October 26, 2008 -- Two of the world's leaders in search engine optimization have joined forces to bring Web site owners unparalleled SEO analysis capabilities. ComCorp, Inc., one of the world's largest and most experienced search engine optimization (SEO), search engine marketing (SEM), pay-for-performance marketing and e-commerce consulting firms, has just struck a strategic partnership with SEOENG LLC. Short for "Search Engine Optimization Engine," SEOENG(TM) is the world's first and only transparent Search Engine of its kind. The alliance between these two search engine optimization behemoths positions ComCorp to provide its clients with instantaneous feedback on how they can improve their Web site ranking for keyword searches. Web site owners who would like a free analysis of their search engine placement can test drive the SEOENG Search Engine online at <http://www.comcorp.com/search-engine-optimization.html>.

The addition of SEOENG technology to ComCorp's suite of offerings enables the company's clients to maximize their site's search engine visibility with top placement and positioning. How does SEOENG accomplish this much sought-after feat? It is a Search Engine Optimization Engine that crawls the Web site address that is entered into its system. The Search Engine then calculates and displays critical errors, shows exactly where they are located and provides suggestions on how to fix them. Within seconds, it discerns how the major search engines look at a Web site and determines that site's search engine ranking. Such a process would take a full-service Internet marketing firm hundreds of hours to accomplish on its own.

"With over 25 billion Google-indexed Web pages (according to a University of Pennsylvania study titled 'Google, Web Crawling and Distributed Synchronization') competing for the number one search ranking - and billions of others not even listed in the first five pages of the search engines, one's chances of rising to the top results of their most wanted search term with no search optimization is about as likely as winning the lottery. A search engine optimization professional is essential in one's success on the Internet," explains Tammy Camp, ComCorp's principal. "In the meantime, an SEO Engine like SEOENG can provide Web site owners with instantaneous feedback they, or search engine optimization specialists like those at ComCorp, can implement to improve their rankings."

Having successfully leveraged search engine marketing campaigns for nearly a decade, ComCorp takes its strategic partnerships seriously. As a tool that empowers its users with on-demand crawling, targeted error location, superior accuracy and SEO results, link flow preservation, search engine navigation and personalization, the company couldn't pass up the opportunity to ally itself with SEOENG.
